

Superior Source: Located in the American Southwest, our specific deposit of fossilized organic matter (known for centuries as "Medicine Rock" by the Native Americans) has been protected by a thick layer of sandstone. Protection, coupled with other geological activities, has preserved the crucial prehistoric fulvic fraction. The result is a humic and fulvic acid resource of unrivaled potency and unmatched benefits!

What Are Humic Substances?

Humic substances (including Fulvic Acid) are the building blocks of our world and crucial to life on earth. They are part of the soil-food web and provide a bio-chemical bridge between mineral and living matter. Plainly, they help our cells absorb vitamins and nutrients and maintain balance. Humic substances are also natural detoxifiers, antioxidants and free radical scavengers. Used in traditional Chinese medicine for over 1200 years, these benefits are now being discovered by western medical societies.

In past generations humic substances were abundant in the soil and environment, appearing in water and the foods we consumed. Today, most agricultural soils and water sources have been depleted. This is why it is crucial to supplement the diet for optimum health and balance.

Humic substances are a group of complex molecules whose structures varies from source to source. Their structure is also greatly effected by manufacturing methods!

Detox, Increase Nutrient Uptake & Energy

For those seeking a true fulvic supplement! WuJinSan gently purifies the system, ridding the body of heavy metals and pesticides, while increasing nutrient absorption on the cellular level. It's easy to use, and mostly tasteless and odorless. WuJinSan is the only fulvic made in the complex, traditional way for increased availability. No acids, preservatives or chemicals are ever used! No questionable "minerals". Instead these ancient molecules are slowly isolated and reactivated via our unique fermentation process. Because of the many open receptor sites you get better chelation and better absorption.

WuJinSan is not a jolt to your system. It's effects are subtle and deep. Expect increased feelings of wellness, energy, and decreased periods of flu-like symptoms. Try WuJinSan for at least one month. We're confident you'll notice the difference.
